

CIBOLO NATURE CENTER & FARM

natural partners • www.cibolo.org

60cultivators for60acres

Become a Cultivator of the Historic Herff Farm!

The Cultivators are an visionary group of 60 supporters who contribute to the conservation of the Historic Herff Farm's 60-acre historic homestead, securing this farm in perpetuity. We invite you to help seed the Herff Farm Campaign by contributing from the ground up! This is your once in a lifetime opportunity to join a small group of visionaries and become part of the next stage of the Herff Farm's history in the making.

Donors will be recognized with naming plaque at the Visitor Kiosk where every guest will pass as they enter the Farm. The Display will remind future generations of your personal commitment that makes their Farm experience possible. Put your name on an acre! Your plaque will declare that at this moment, you care enough to make an everlasting impression, not only for the future of the Historic Herff Farm, but the future of our health and sustainable communities.

You too can become a Cultivator for a one time gift of $5,000 or $225/month for 24 months.

We've come a long way... Let's get home!
Put your name on an acre!

For more information please contact
cheyenne@cibolo.org

THE HERFF FARM AT A GLANCE

In 2007, the CNC acquired the historic Herff Farm located across the creek from the Nature Center, and bordering nearly the entire length of the park. The Farm was at serious risk of being developed, which could compromise the fragile Cibolo Creek Watershed which feeds the Trinity and Edwards aquifers that serve San Antonio and surrounding areas. The Herff Farm presents a great opportunity for furthering our mission of environmental education for all ages. The new Cibolo Nature Center & Farm, will serve as a regional education center on sustainable living.